Groundbreaking applications for large-format 3D printing: BigRep demonstrates 3D printing innovations at formnext

Berlin, 14 November 2017 – Berlin-based 3D printing company BigRep will exhibit its world-leading large-scale 3D printers at formnext in Frankfurt am Main, from 14-17 November. The BigRep booth will showcase a host of innovative 3D printing applications utilizing its printers, developed by brands such as Audi, Deutsche Bahn, Steelcase, Villeroy & Boch and more.

Now in production with its partner Heidelberger Druckmaschinen, the BigRep STUDIO will be on display to showcase large-format 3D printing capabilities in a frame small enough for all workspaces and businesses. BigRep's one-cubic-meter volume printer The ONE will also be in action on the booth, showing the potential for end-use spare parts manufacturing.

Since its launch in 2014, BigRep has become one of the world-leading 3D printing solutions companies, proudly engineering and manufacturing workhorse 3D printers in Germany.

Key BigRep events taking place during formnext:

Additive Manufacturing for Mobility – a dynamic session with Deutsche Bahn

BigRep CEO René Gurka, will host a talk with the Managing Director of 'Mobility goes Additive' (Deutsche Bahn), Stefanie Brickwede, on Tuesday 14th November at 14:00, at the BigRep booth. Gurka and Brickwede will discuss the exciting DB-BigRep collaboration to produce end-use spare parts using large-format 3D printing. The project tackles the question: How can established, traditional industries successfully navigate the digital age?

BigRep CEO presenting new applications that will shift global manufacturing

At 14:45 on Tuesday 14th November, BigRep CEO René Gurka will present on large-scale additive manufacturing for industrial applications. From the TCT Introducing stage, Gurka will explore the innovation opportunities that cutting-edge 3D printing technologies present to aerospace, automotive, shipping, and other global industries.

Meet & Greet at the BigRep Booth – formnext celebratory drinks

In association with 3YOURMIND and DyeMansion, BigRep will be hosting a meet & greet drinks at its booth on Tuesday 14th November, from 18:00. BigRep is delighted to invite press and formnext attendees for a demonstration of its 3D printers and an informal chat about how its advanced technology is helping global businesses and industries to innovate.
